Headline:
Sunshine and showers, cold and clear overnight.

Today:
A cold, bright start for many with showers developing across the south during the morning. Showers may turn heavy at times during the afternoon, most likely near the south coast. Longer spells of sunshine expected inland. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
The showers will steadily die away during the evening to leave a mainly dry and clear night across the region. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Saturday:
Similar to Friday with showers forming during the morning, although mainly towards the west. Clear skies and plenty of sunshine further east. Showers easing quickly around dusk. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Showers on Sunday again. Bright on Monday at first, but turning cloudier with widespread rain and strong winds. Improving overnight with intermittent rain by Tuesday, sunny spells and lighter winds.
